Performance Expectations for Account Technical Leader

Clarity on performance expectations and expected outcomes provide the standard for success. To help you succeed, we've created unique Performance Expectations for each Job Role and band. In addition to these expectations, measurable outcomes for this role includes

1. achievement of Target Incentive
2. near-and long-term opportunity creation and pursuit as part of a Client Technical Strategy
3. application of skills acquired to progress deployment /influence clients

In each performance period, most IBMers will meet the performance expectations as core performers, some will perform well above their peers and others will have opportunities for growth.

Aligned with the IBM Performance Program guidelines, managers will use Performance Expectation to identify the top, core and low performing member in their teams.
